Red card for blue badge fraudster

Son pleads guilty to misusing disabled parking bay

A MAN who used his mother's Blue Badge to park in a disabled bay while he went on a course has been caught by Royal Greenwich fraud investigators.

Mohamed Miah, from Southwark, pleaded guilty to misusing his mother's Blue Badge to park in Woolwich, whilst attending a training course for the company that he was working for.

The 28-year-old appeared at Bexley Magistrates Court last Monday (April 18) where he was fined £350 and ordered to pay a victim surcharge of £35 and a contribution towards prosecution costs of £500.

The prosecution came after royal borough investigators had seen his car parked on three separate occasions in the same disabled bay. The vehicle displayed his mother's Blue Badge, issued by Southwark Council, and on the third occasion they waited for him to return to his car.

Investigators queried why he had parked for three days running in the same place and Mr Miah explained he was attending a training course.

He admitted using his mother's badge but said he thought he could use the badge as his car was registered to transport his mother. Officers did not believe his story, confiscated the badge and invited him to attend a formal interview under caution.

At his interview he was apologetic and remorseful for his actions stating that he had never been in trouble before. During last Monday's case he pleaded guilty to one charge under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

In sentencing him, the court took into account that he had entered an early guilty plea and showed remorse for his actions.

Cllr Maureen O'Mara, the council's cabinet member for customer services said: "As part of its on-going commitment to prevent and detect fraud the royal borough is taking rigorous action with Blue Badge misuse. This is good news for all genuine Blue Badge holders who so often are inconvenienced by other car drivers who take up valuable parking spaces whilst misusing Blue Badges they have no right to use."

● If you suspect someone of committing Blue Badge fraud call 0800 169 6975 or email Blue-Badge-Fraud@royalgreenwich.gov.uk. Any information given will be treated in strictest confidence.

£75k cash boost for women's support centre

A PIONEERING support centre for women has received a £75,000 cash boost.

The Her Centre in Greenwich is getting a £74,925 grant over three years from the Lloyds Bank Foundation.

The centre is the first port of call for women facing domestic abuse, sexual abuse and also provides support with legal and homelessness issues. Some of the funding will cover volunteer expenses to ensure that they can be there to support the many women who need their help.

The funding means the centre will be able to support more than 600 vulnerable women each year. In particular, the charity will be able to reach out to women from black, Asian and minority ethnic communities who are less likely to approach the centre but are at risk and in need of support.

The Her Centre plays a vital role in the royal borough's ongoing campaign to tackle domestic abuse and is one of the partner organisations in the Royal Greenwich Against Domestic Violence and Abuse campaign launched in 2014.

Her Centre chief executive Stacy Smith, said: "The Her Centre is grateful for this support from Lloyds Bank Foundation. The grant allows us to provide an effective comprehensive service to women in crisis. It means the Her Centre has the financial security to concentrate on our clients' needs, empowering women to take control of their lives, get safe and move on to a better life for themselves and their children."

Paul Streets, chief executive of Lloyds Bank Foundation said: "We are more committed than ever to providing vital funding to charities like Her Centre, allowing them to grow and thrive, and to reach and help the people that really rely on them."

EGGS-EMPLARY
ART: Eva Duru shows off her winning egg and congratulatory letter from Buckingham Palace.

Egg-cellent effort

THE Queen sent a letter of thanks to a Greenwich primary school after they sent her pictures of their work.

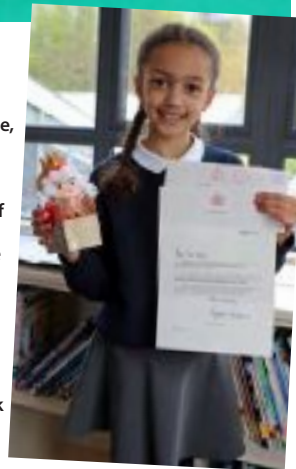

Gallion's Mount Primary School held a 'Design an Easter egg competition' before Easter when pupils were given a polystyrene egg to take home and decorate.

School staff were overwhelmed with the imagination and effort that the children put into their creations with the designs taking all forms from dinosaurs to minions to Faberge eggs. Prizes were handed to the best in class the overall school winner was won by Eva Duru, a year 5 pupil. She decorated her egg to look like the Queen with curly hair, pearl necklace, crown and throne, using the upcoming 90th birthday celebrations as inspiration.

The school sent a picture of the winning egg along with a letter of explanation to the Queen, and they received a thank you letter from the Queen's Lady in Waiting.

Headteacher, Sue Slack said: "It was very egg-citing to receive a letter from Buckingham Palace! We took it straight to Eva so that she could open it in front of her class."

Charlton Trust score with third community award

THE ADDICKS are top of the league when it comes to teamwork with the local community.

Charlton Athletic's Community Trust (CACT) triumphed in the prestigious ceremony, winning Community Club of the Year in front of staff, local councillors and leading figures in the industry.

The Trust was chosen as the most successful league club community scheme at engaging with local residents over the last year. Highlighted was the wide range of projects run by CACT which have had a positive impact on the local area. The Trust has been particularly successful with Greenwich Get Active and Kick the Habit, both aimed at helping local people improve their health and fitness.

It's the third award for CACT which won the Football League Community Club of the Year in 2013 and 2009 and follows earlier success this year when CACT was re-commissioned to run the royal borough's youth service, Young Greenwich. It was the first football charity appointed to run a council's youth service back in 2012.

Cllr David Gardner, the royal borough's cabinet member for health, social care and public health, attended the award ceremony along with Trust staff, patrons, sponsors and reps from partner organisations. He said: "Congratulations to CACT. We are delighted to be in partnership with the Trust on a wide range of initiatives that make a real difference, improve the health of the local community, and which provide opportunities for young people."

Cllr Denise Scott-McDonald, cabinet member for culture, creative industries and community wellbeing said: "This award is national recognition for the excellent work carried out by the Trust in the local community and is fully deserved."

Trust chief executive Jason Morgan told GT: "This is a fantastic achievement and one that everybody at the Trust should be immensely proud of. The last 12 months has seen us achieve so much and that's down to all staff running our programmes, our partners, sponsors and patrons that invest into our work and finally the community that actively support and engage with us on a daily basis. Without everybody's ongoing commitment, recognitions like this wouldn't always be possible."

● For further information on CACT and its work in the royal borough, visit www.cact.org.uk

● Charlton Athletic's 18-year-old forward Ademola Lookman also received a prestigious gong at the Football League Awards last week when he was crowned Championship's LFE Apprentice of the Year 2016. The accolade recognises a young professional who has achieved success on the pitch and in the classroom over the course of the season. Lookman has impressed hugely since joining Charlton in 2014, breaking into the first team last November to become one of the most highly rated young players in the Championship.

Walkers raise £25,000 for Upbeats

IT was definitely a case of starting on the front foot for a group of intrepid walkers, who set out on a nine-mile walk last week (April 16) as part of Charlton Upbeats Day - raising an astounding £25,000 in the process.

With a mostly scenic but sometimes challenging trek across the royal borough, 210 walkers from the Charlton Athletic community came together to walk from the team's Sparrows Lane training ground to The Valley, helping raise funds for the Down's syndrome project run by Charlton Athletic Community Trust (CACT).

Led by Charlton Athletic legends Paul

Mortimer, Carl Leaburn, Simon Webster and Bob Bolder, the event exceeded expectations, raising more than its original target of £20,000 and well over the £15,000 raised in 2015.

On arrival at The Valley, supporters made their way into the ground early to cheer on The Upbeats as they played the Derby County Down's syndrome team prior to the championship match between the two clubs. Revelling in their day, The Upbeats prevailed, overcoming Derby 9-1.

Jason Morgan, chief executive of CACT told GT: "It's about raising the profile for The Upbeats and the great work that the people do to support the initiative. The pleasing thing to see is that fans have embraced it, got behind it and supported it. It's the second year we've done this with bigger numbers and more money raised, it's just a great day out."

Reining in rogue traders

TRADING Standards investigators issued warnings to doorstep sellers and spoke to householders who could have been potential victims of rogue traders.

It was part of a week-long operation from April 11-15 to crack down on traders failing to comply with the law and saw council officers working with the Met police.

The coordinated effort was part of Operation Rogue Trader 2016 - a national campaign to tackle doorstep criminals, including rogue traders, loan sharks and distraction burglars.

Using information from National Trading Standards Scams Team (NTSST), the local trading standards team intervened in 20 separate cases of scam mail and gave advice to victims. Specific advice was given to eight traders regarding compliance with the law while residents were also told about mass marketing fraud, and how prize draws and competitions are used to defraud vulnerable residents out of their money.

Under the 'Mail Marshal' programme residents can send suspected scam mail to NTSST for investigation.

Cllr Jackie Smith, cabinet member for community safety & environment said: "The council remains firmly committed to tackling rogue traders operating anywhere in the borough. Through partnership working with the Metropolitan Police and also the National Scams team, we can stamp out such criminal activity while raising awareness of scams and rogues traders to residents."

● For further information on rogue trading or how to become a 'Mail Marshal' please email tradingstandards@royalgreenwich.gov.uk or call 020 8921 8223. Alternatively, tweet @RoyalGreenwich using #roguetrader2016.

Dog day afternoon

A SPECIAL event is being held this May Day bank holiday to raise funds for Battersea Cats and Dogs Home.

Rachael Webb from Charlton has organised the day near Oxleas Woods Café in memory of her assistance dog Kharn, who was killed by a quad bike on the same day three years ago.

"I was devastated, he meant everything to me," said Rachael, 44, who was left with disabilities following a car crash in 2011.

"I have organised the day, which I'm calling Kharny Day, in memory of him and to raise awareness about the dangers of quad bikes. He could have been a child."

The quad bikers drove off after the accident, and have never been caught.

Rachael had taken in Kharn as a young rescue dog and, after her accident, she had trained him to fetch things for her and help her around the house.

"He would empty the washing machine, fetch the post, even take off my boots," Rachael told GT.

She now has a new dog, Treacle, which she is training to help her, and she said that organising the event on Monday, May 2 was helping her come to terms with the Kharny's death.

Activities on the day, run from 12-4.30pm, including falconry, pony rides, stalls, bouncy castles for adults and children, martial arts, a barbecue - and of course a dog show.

Oxleas Wood Café is off Crown Woods Lane, Shooters Hill.

Birthday beacons glow

PEOPLE of the royal borough came out in their hundreds to celebrate the Queen's 90th birthday and watch the lighting up of three beacons last Thursday (April 21).

They gathered in General Gordon Square, Woolwich; Cutty Sark Gardens, Greenwich, and outside Oxleas Meadow Café in Shooters Hill to see the lighting up of the beacons - three of a thousand lit across the length and breadth of the country.

At each location a letter from His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales was read out thanking people for coming out.

Youth organisations from across the royal borough assisted with the beacon lighting - at Cutty Sark Gardens the job fell to the Army's 94 Cadet Detachment and the Sea Cadets; in Woolwich the 56(Woolwich) Squadron ATC Royal Air Force Cadets helped to light the torch while the 36th Woolwich Scouts joined in to help light the beacon at the Oxleas Café.

There was entertainment from the ATC Royal Air Force Cadets Band at Woolwich, and folk music duo Sound Refuge at Greenwich.

Royal borough council leader Denise Hyland said: "Our borough has a long and unique connection to the royal family and we were honoured in 2012 when the Queen herself visited to bestow royal borough status on Greenwich - and we aim to strengthen this connection even more in the future. We offer our congratulations and best wishes to the Queen from the royal borough during her birthday celebrations."

WITH GCSEs and A-levels fast approaching, the royal borough is reassuring students about the support available as they contemplate their future education after age 16.

The council works with various organisations to expand the range of options available for post-16 students including college courses, apprenticeships and training schemes.

To help pupils assess their options, secondary schools in the royal borough offer one-to-one support and advice sessions.

Students are encouraged to take advantage of the information and advice available to make sure they make the best decisions for their future.

Kat Valley, a graduate from the University of Greenwich, attended both primary and secondary school in Greenwich. She went on to study Primary Education at uni and became a qualified teacher. During the course Kat went on three placements in schools across the borough and now works as a teacher at St Peter's and St Alfege's primary school in Greenwich.

She urged students to think carefully about the options available to them at 16 and shared offered tips about making a decision on their choices come September. The 26-year-old said: "It's important to choose something you are interested in. Follow your own values and make the most of all the advice out there so that you know what is available to you."

Space photo collection is out of this world

SKYFALL: Silk Skies, the aurora over Lapland by James Percy

FANTASTIC images of outer space are showcased at a free exhibition at the Royal Observatory's Astronomy Centre in Greenwich.

From the beautiful colours of the aurora to views of the Milky Way and distant planets light years away, the photos are from the Astronomy Photographer of the Year 2015 competition.

They were all winners from the nine main categories of the competition as well as two special prize winners.

More than 2,700 images were entered into the competition and Chris Bramley, editor of BBC Sky at Night Magazine, who was one of the judges, said: "Each and every category contained images of a jaw-dropping standard."

The overall winner was French photographer Luc Jamet who captured a spectacular image of the solar eclipse above a snowy Norwegian landscape in March last year.

The UK's David Tolliday won the prize for best newcomer with his photo taken from the Elan Valley in Wales of the Running Man nebula 200 light years away.

The Young Astronomy Photographer of the Year went to 15-year-old George Martin, also based in the UK, for his image of Comet Lovejoy streaking past stars in the night sky.

Entry to the exhibition is free and it continues until June 26 at the Astronomy Centre in Blackheath Avenue. For more information, visit www.rmg.co.uk/royal-observatory

Comic's stand-up quest for mum

COMEDIAN Mark Steel (pictured) knew he was adopted but had never worried about finding his mum, until he had a son of his own.

Then everything changed: "I realised it's quite an event to have a child, and [my mum] may well remember giving birth to me, and maybe even the adoption."

His search and findings are the subject for his latest stand-up show, Who Do I Think I Am, which critics have described as "an amazing tale" and "profound yet funny".

● Mark will be at Blackheath Halls this Saturday, April 30 at 8pm. Tickets cost £15 – visit www.blackheathhalls.com or call the box office on 020 8463 0100.

A NEW weekend street market opens in Woolwich next month offering food from around the world, local entertainment - and a silent disco!

The Royal Arsenal Riverside Street Food Market launches on the weekend of May 7 & 8 with indoor and outdoor zones selling food including delicacies such as Spanish tapas, Asian and West Indian dishes and America barbeque platters.

Once visitors have chosen their feast, they can head to the chill-out zone to enjoy their food in comfort.

And it's not just food on offer at the new market – local arts and crafts will be on display outside along No 1 Sizzle Street as well as local street entertainers.

Inside another building there will be a silent disco – just put on the headphones and dance and sing to the music in your ears.

The market is run by Street Food Markets, a company based in Blackwall Lane, Greenwich.

Founder Kay Smith explained: "Street Food Markets is a new urban space rental business that enables pop-up restaurants, street food entrepreneurs and food trucks to trade at unique locations."

"We use social media, video and local support. We work with some of the most exciting professional street food chefs and brands to create our weekly and monthly street food markets."

CO-PRODUCTION: a poster promotes the theatre taster session

A SECOND taster session for people interested in performing in a community production is being held this Thursday, April 28. The Adventures of The Little Ghost, which is being co-produced by Greenwich Theatre and Greenwich & Lewisham Young People's Theatre (GLYPT), will be performed at the Bathway Theatre in Woolwich next month with a five-strong cast alongside 30 local people.

About 25 people went to the first taster where 15 signed up for the show, which leaves another 15 places to be filled.

Choreographer Sophie Nüzel said: "We got a wonderful mixture of people. The youngest was eight and the oldest 77. There was a real group buzz, including some people from the weekly Caribbean Social Club and some young gymnasts."

James Haddrell from Greenwich Theatre added: "The taster is a great chance for people to come along and see how much they'll enjoy being a part of the show. It's all absolutely free and there's no obligation to sign up for the project once they've met the team and tried out the taster event."

The Adventures of The Little Ghost will be performed on Saturday, May 28 and is part of the second half of the Greenwich Children's Theatre Festival being held during the May half-term.

Anyone interested in taking part in the free taster event at Greenwich Theatre should call the theatre on 020 8858 7755 between 1pm and 6pm or email Martha Jordan on m.jordan@greenwichtheatre.org.uk

SUMMER music is returning to Greenwich Park with another series of free bandstand concerts organised by the Friends of the Park. And before they get started the Phoenix Dixieland Jazz Band will be back in the Observatory Garden for its mid-summer jazz concert on Sunday, June 19 for an afternoon of family fun. The seven-piece band play a repertoire of well known tunes by the likes of Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington and Scott Joplin, plus many others. Tickets cost £5 in advance, £7 on the gate and under-16s go free – email the Friends at cnbevan@hotmail.com or call them on 020 8853 2150.

The bandstand concerts start on Sunday, June 26 with Greenwich Steel Band (pictured) and Royal Greenwich Big Band – both made up of young musicians from Greenwich schools. They run every Sunday afternoon until August 28 when the Greenwich Concert Band will play the last hooray. The Friends of Greenwich Park was set up in 1993 to support and promote the park, which is the oldest of London's Royal Parks and the centrepiece of the Maritime Greenwich World Heritage Site. For more information about the Friends group, visit www.friendsofgreenwichpark.org.uk

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B1/B2 both in priority date order. Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B1 is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- or B2
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B1/B2.

How do I apply?

1 Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

2 Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

3 Pick out your ideal property by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

4 Apply in one of three ways

- Text bidding is now available and the number to use is 07786207913. For further information please see page 2, or
- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR ROYAL BOROUGH TENANTS WHO ARE MOVING

DON'T GET A BILL AFTER YOU LEAVE

Under the conditions of your tenancy agreement, you have a responsibility to leave your property in an acceptable state of repair. We may visit you to check this. If we consider your property is in an unacceptable condition, you may be prevented from moving or be recharged for work.

To avoid getting an unwelcome bill, follow these rules:

- Repair any damage caused to the property by you, your family or visitors to your home.
- Make good any changes you have made to your property e.g. put back any doors that you have removed.
- Make sure your garden is not overgrown and you have cleared all garden waste.
- Clear all your items from the inside and the outside of the property. This includes any loft space, external cupboards or sheds.
- Return all the keys to the Royal Borough's offices no later than midday on Monday (or Tuesday if it is a Bank Holiday). You will be charged a further week's rent if you do not return your keys on time.

If you leave repairs that are your responsibility, or items that require disposal you will be charged the cost of this work.

Special Collection Service

The Royal Borough offers a Special Collection Service for tenants who are moving and want to dispose of something big and bulky, like a sofa or a fridge, and even unwanted clothes and other textiles.

Simply contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661 and tell them where you live and what you would like taken away.

Items we will collect include:

Fridges, freezers, washing machines, beds, sofas, clothes and carpets (carpets must be cut up and tied into manageable bundles that one person can carry).

Items we DO NOT collect include:

Fitted kitchens, bathroom suites, boilers, sheds, fences and rubble.

For further information, please contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661.

UP AND OVER:
Elis gives an amazing display to clinch her place at the Olympics

The 18-year-old put in a strong showing at the Aquece Rio Test Event, held at the Barra Olympic Arena in Rio de Janeiro clinching a place in the games.

Ellis has been backed by the Greenwich Starting Blocks Trust, a council-launched charity which provides bursaries to help young athletes develop their talents and reach their potential. Trust funding supports the essential costs of training, travel and equipment, and the costs of competing across the UK and abroad.

Starting Blocks has a great track record in helping local athletes reach the very top and Ellis will be joining illustrious company when she competes this summer; Gemma Gibbons won a silver medal in Judo at the 2012 Olympics while weightlifter Zoe Smith also had a strong showing in the London games with support from Starting Blocks.

Ellis told GT: "I can't believe I am officially an Olympian and I have made history by becoming the first ever female gymnast to qualify for Ireland - Bring on the Olympics!"

She added: "I want to say thank you to my coach Samantha James, and my family who have been with me and supported me through my whole journey. Also thanks to everyone for the good luck messages and support. I would also like to thank Starting Blocks as they have helped from the very beginning and this support has continued throughout."

Peter Bunday, who is chairman for the Starting Blocks Trust, said: "We are thrilled that Ellis has successfully qualified for Rio 2016. It is a true testament to the hard work and dedication that Ellis has shown over many years and all of us involved at Greenwich Starting Blocks are proud to have contributed to this achievement."

"It is wonderful that Ellis will be flying the flag for the royal borough and I am sure we will be joined by everyone in the borough cheering Ellis on at the Olympic Games."
